

Contributors

Jordan J. Ballor (Dr. theol., University of Zurich; PhD, Calvin Theological Seminary) is a senior research fellow and director of publishing at the Acton Institute. He is also a postdoctoral researcher in theology and economics at the Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam working on the Moral Markets project and an affiliate scholar at the First Liberty Institute.

William Boyce (DMin, Trinity School for Ministry) is lead pastor at Christ Church of Arlington, a Presbyterian church in Arlington, Virginia. His thesis, “Outsiders on the Inside: Racial Fatigue and Resilience among Black Pastors in the PCA,” won the annual Doctor of Ministry award from Trinity School for Ministry.

George Harinck (PhD, Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam) is professor of the history of Neo-Calvinism at Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam and professor of the history of Protestantism at Theological University Kampen. He is director of The Neo-Calvinism Research Institute in Kampen.

Peter S. Heslam (MA, University of Cambridge; DPhil, University of Oxford) is Director of Faith in Business and a Senior Research Fellow at the University of Cambridge. His publications on Abraham Kuyper include Creating a Christian Worldview: Abraham Kuyper’s Lectures on Calvinism (1998) and Abraham Kuyper On Economics and Business (2021).

Contributors

Jessica Joustra (PhD, Fuller Theological Seminary; PhD, Vrije Universiteit) is assistant professor of religion and theology at Redeemer University and associate researcher at the Neo-Calvinist Research Institute at Theologische Universiteit Kampen.

Robert Joustra (PhD, University of Bath) is associate professor of politics & international studies, and director of the Centre for Christian Scholarship, at Redeemer University (Toronto, Canada). He is author and editor of several books, most recently Modern Papal Diplomacy and Social Teaching in World Affairs (Routledge, 2019).

Richard J. Mouw (PhD, University of Chicago) is a senior research fellow at the Henry Institute for the Study of Religion and Politics at Calvin University in Grand Rapids, Michigan. Previously, Mouw served as the president of Fuller Theological Seminary (1993–2013) and directed their Institute of Faith and Public Life (2013–2020). He is the author of more than twenty books.

Dylan Pahman is a research fellow at the Acton Institute for the Study of Religion & Liberty, where he serves as managing editor of the Journal of Markets & Morality.

Matthew J. Tuininga (PhD, Emory University) is associate professor of moral theology at Calvin Theological Seminary in Grand Rapids, Michigan. He is the author of Calvin's Political Theology and the Public Engagement of the Church: Christ's Two Kingdoms (Cambridge University Press).