

Contributors

Matthew J. Advent is a PhD candidate in philosophy and teaching fellow at the Catholic University of America.

Philip Booth (PhD, City, London University) is professor of finance, public policy, and ethics and Director of Catholic Mission at St. Mary's University, Twickenham, London, and also Director of Policy and Research at the Catholic Bishops' Conference of England and Wales. He is a Fellow of the Institute of Actuaries and of the Royal Statistical Society.

Dominic Farrell, LC (PhD, Pontifical Gregorian University) is an ordinary professor of philosophy at the Pontifical Athenaeum Regina Apostolorum. His research focuses on ethics, political philosophy, and St. Thomas Aquinas.

Paul J. Radich (PhD, The Catholic University of America) is assistant professor of marketing, ethics, and political economy at the Busch School of Business at Catholic University of America. He has presented his research at Cambridge University in the United Kingdom, Harvard, and Notre Dame. He served on the Ethics Committee of the American Marketing Association and is also a Scholar with the Institute for Human Ecology.