

Contributors

Thomas C. Behr (PhD, SUNY Buffalo) is resident scholar and director of workshops and seminars at the Center for the American Idea, as well as director of Liberal Studies at the University of Houston.

Fr. Joseph M. de Torre (PhD in Philosophy, Angelicum, Rome 1953) is professor emeritus at the University of Asia and the Pacific, Pasig City, Philippines.

Eduardo J. Echeverria (PhD, Free University, Amsterdam) is professor of philosophy in the Graduate School of Theology at Sacred Heart Major Seminary, Detroit, Michigan. He is the author of Dialogue of Love: Confessions of an Evangelical Catholic Ecumenist (2010) and “In the Beginning ...” A Theology of the Body (2011).

Daniel K. Finn (PhD, University of Chicago) is professor of theology and Clemens Professor of Economics and the Liberal Arts, St. John’s School of Theology, Collegeville, Minnesota.

Barry P. Keating (PhD, University of Notre Dame) is the Jesse H. Jones Professor of Finance and Business Economics at the University of Notre Dame. He is a leading researcher in the study of data mining and its use.

Contributors

Maryann O. Keating (PhD, University of Notre Dame) is an adjunct scholar with the Indiana Policy Review. She coauthored Microeconomics for Public Managers (Wiley, 2009) and recently lectured in economics at the University of Notre Dame Australia (2010).

Nelson D. Kloosterman (ThD, Theological University of the Reformed Churches [Liberated]) serves as ethics consultant and executive director of Worldview Resources International.

John D. Mueller is the Lehrman Institute Fellow in Economics and director of the economics and ethics program at the Ethics and Public Policy Center. He is also president of LBMC LLC, a firm in Washington, DC, specializing in economic and financial-market forecasting and economic policy analysis.

Paul Oslington (PhD, University of Sydney) is professor of economics at Australian Catholic University.

Marinus Ossewaarde (PhD, London School of Economics) is an associate professor in sociology of governance at the University of Twente, Enschede, the Netherlands.

Anthony E. Santelli II (PhD, George Mason University) is the founder and portfolio manager at AES Capital. He is also a founder and board member of the Catholic Finance Association and member of the Society of Catholic Social Scientists. He has taught economics and finance at Union College and George Mason University.

Manfred Spieker (PhD, Munich University) is professor of Christian social thought in the department of Catholic theology at Osnabrück University, Osnabrück, Germany.

Peter van Dam (PhD, Westfälische Wilhelms-Universität Münster) has been a lecturer of Dutch history at the University of Amsterdam since 2009. He focuses on the history of Dutch and German civil society, religion in Western Europe, and transnational history. Currently he is working on a history of the Dutch fair-trade movement.

Contributors

Rolf van der Woude (PhD, University of Groningen) is senior researcher at the Historical Documentation Centre for Dutch Protestantism at the VU University Amsterdam.

David VanDrunen (JD, Northwestern University; PhD, Loyola University Chicago) is the Robert B. Strimple Professor of Systematic Theology and Christian Ethics at Westminster Seminary California.

Harry Van Dyke (D.Litt., Free University of Amsterdam) is professor emeritus in history at Redeemer University College, Ancaster, Ontario.

Gerard van Krieken (PhD, Leiden University) is a retired teacher of history at the Kennemer Lyceum, Overveen, the Netherlands.